Flogging Is Prohibited Under Severe Penalties in New Guinea Territory.

(By Associated Press) SYDNEY, N. S. W., April 29.—(By Mail)—The Papuan Native Labor Ordinance, believed to be the most complete and humane in any part of the British Empire, has been made effective to the mandated territory in New Guinea.

Flogging is prohibited under penalty of a fine up to 100 pounds or six months imprisonment and no native may be removed from the territory except under special conditions insuring his safe return. The ordinance provides. Bonauses and presents to chiefs for recruiting are limited to certain amounts and the indenture period is not to exceed three years. A special fund is created for the education of the natives.

Another ordinance regarding the administration of the territory provides that public servants must be natural born British subjects and preference is given to former soldiers. Provision is made for a native police force of 457 non-commissioned officers and constables. A check also is provided upon the export of valuable minerals from the territory.

When The Bonanza says job printing, it means that and nothing else.

SWEDISH CHILDREN TO LEARN DANCING

(By Associated Press) STOCKHOLM, May 13.—(By Mail)—Swedish school for children in the province of Skane will this summer learn the charming folk games and dances in which their great-grand sires and mothers delighted generations ago. At the same time the youngsters will keep up their useful Swedish gymnastics, without which no educational venture in this country is complete.

Arrangements have been made for a summer camp on the estate of Bog-Jockloster in Skane, southern Sweden, for 1000 children and teachers to be conducted somewhat on the same principle as an American recreational camp for boys and girls. Emphasis, however, will be laid on perpetuating the folk games and dances.

There has of late years been a definite and conscious movement abroad in this country to revive interest in the old national folk games and dances, which for picturesque and wholesome reasons are regarded as far superior to modern society dances.

PSYCHIC FINDS NEEDLE HIDDEN IN JERUSALEM

Remarkable Feat Is Performed Man Supposed Possessed More Than Five Senses.

(By Associated Press) LONDON, May 15.—(By Mail)—To find a needle in a haystack is popularly supposed to be a feat so difficult that the odds against its successful accomplishment would be something like a million to one. Yet a feat that to the ordinary man would appear, if anything, still more difficult, has recently been accomplished in Jerusalem, according to newspapers published there. It was nothing less than the finding of a needle hidden in Jerusalem, and with no clue to its whereabouts of which the five senses could take cognizance, except that it was hidden "somewhere" in the city.

This was done by Dr. Hanosson, who claims to be possessed of something more than the usual five senses and to be endowed with a mysterious "psychic" faculty by means of which he can read thoughts and find out things that cannot be discovered by means of mere sight or hearing. The finding of the needle was accepted as the proof of his claim and he was awarded 100 pounds. He found the needle within 25 minutes, excluding the time taken to reach the place of concealment.

A committee was appointed to supervise the test and to see that there was nothing of a "put up job" about it. The committee consisted of several journalists, some policemen and an expert in nervous diseases. Dr. Hanosson was secured in a house and a guard placed over him. Then the members of the committee set forth in motor cars, one of them carrying the needle.

Several streets of Jerusalem were traversed. Cars and drivers were changed on the way and then, by a circuitous route, the lunatic asylum was reached. Then the committee returned to the house in which Dr. Hanosson had been left and released him.

In a motor car, accompanied by the committee, he started out to find the needle. In the course taken the driver followed his directions. After passing through many streets Dr. Hanosson left the car and proceeded on foot to the asylum. Arriving there with hardly a moment's hesitation, he made for the portrait and found the needle.

The proceedings aroused enormous interest in Jerusalem. A crowd of several thousand persons awaited the result of the test, and cheered when Dr. Hanosson's success was announced.

PILOT OF AIRCRAFT MAKES NEW RECORD

(By Associated Press) LONDON, May 15.—(By Mail)—A commercial air pilot has flown to Paris and returned to London twice within 11 hours. It is the first time in the history of commercial aviation that the double journey between London and Paris has been made twice the same day.

Capt. E. D. C. Herne, pilot of a London-Paris express left London's air port at Croydon at 6:57 a. m. May 1, and flew to Paris in 125 minutes. After half an hour's rest, he returned to Croydon, arriving at 11:54 a. m. At 12:45 p. m. he started his second trip to Paris, arriving at 2:53 p. m. Twenty-two minutes later he left Paris and completed his fourth journey along the airway at 5:40 p. m. Within 11 hours he flew his machine 1000 miles, the actual time in the air being 8 hours, 52 minutes.

Major Blake, who will undertake the world flight planned by the late Sir Ross Smith, was a passenger in Captain Herne's plane on all four trips.

WHOLESALE PRICES SOAR IN ENGLAND

(By Associated Press) LONDON, April 17.—(By Mail)—For the first time since prices began to fall in the spring of 1920, the board of trade index figure indicates an increase in the general level of wholesale prices. A rise of 0.5 per cent in April, as compared with March, occurred, due mainly to the higher prices for articles of food other than cereals.

In April the average price level of all food was 1.7 per cent above March, while in the average price level for industrial materials there was a fall of 0.2 per cent. An increase is shown in the cotton group, the April average being 0.5 per cent above the average for March.

BONANZA NEWS IS 18 HOURS AHEAD

Morning newspapers have lost their prestige and the reader who would keep abreast of the times subscribes for the evening publications. The reason is simple. The morning sheets only publish a "rehash" of what has occurred the day previous. The world's events are transmitted by wire to the afternoon papers, 18 hours in advance of the morning publications, so why wait this long period to ascertain what is taking place in this old world. The Bonanza invites comparison, both as regards local and telegraph news.

GHOST CITY IS SHOWING GREAT REJUVENATION

Old Hickory in Tennessee Will be Location for Vocational Training School.

(By Associated Press) NASHVILLE, Tenn., June 2.—Nashville's industrial suburb, old Hickory, which sprang up overnight during the war only to become a "ghost" city when the armistice was signed, is slowly becoming a permanent industrial site. It is receiving serious consideration for various other purposes, too, including that of a location for a new vocational school to be built by the Veterans' bureau.

Old Hickory, where the world's largest steam plant was in operation shortly before the war closed, cost the government $57,000,000. It has 3847 residences sufficient to house 30,000 people. There are 1112 factory buildings, 54 miles of standard railway track and 44 miles of tram track on the grounds. It was perhaps the biggest powder plant in the world when the war ended.

First ground was broken for the city February 9, 1918, and operation of the first sulphuric acid unit began 116 days later. Within a few days additional units were going at full blast.

Public meetings were held here when it became certain that the government would sell the power plant. The Nashville Industrial Corporation, composed of people in the city who wished to invest in the project, bought the plant November 22, 1920. Since then four new industries, a pulp and paper plant, a motor and body works, a cement factory and a starch and syrup plant, have been established at Old Hickory.

Many of the residences and apartments are in use either by those who live there permanently or by others who rent them as summer homes.

MINISTER HAS PLAN LIKENING PONZI'S IDEA

Would Compound Interest on Money to Insure Income During Old Age.

(By Associated Press) ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. June 2.—

A new plan to protect ministers from "ecclesiastical Ponzi's" by affording them a sound opportunity for investment has been formulated by the Methodist Board of Conference Claims, according to an address by Rev. Joseph B. Hingeley, of Chicago, before the annual conference of interdenominational secretaries of ministerial relief of Protestant churches here yesterday. The proposed plan, according to Dr. Hingeley, would yield ministers in some cases a dollar a day on savings of a dollar a week, and would insure them against disability or poverty in old age.

"In preparing the plan," said Dr. Hingeley, "we based the accumulations on interest compounded semi-annually at four per cent on money paid during the minister's active years on which, when retired, he would receive a fixed amount for life. The actuarial computation showed that if he should begin his payments of a dollar a week when he was 25 years of age and should continue such payments until he was 65, his accumulations at the usual rates would yield a dollar a day for the remainder of his life.

In describing the need for such an actuarial plan Dr. Hingeley said that a book advising agents how to promote a certain speculative enterprise, classed the best ministerial prospects as Presbyterians and Episcopallians, "because they get the best salaries," and also "Methodists and Baptists," "because they are 'easy marks'" for the promoter.

The plan would supplement the present Methodist pensions toward which pastors do not regularly contribute with provision incorporating actuarial principles tried out by other denominations. Dr. Hingeley explained.

ONE CENT

"Why—the sun of course" you will say. But remember—you can hold the cent so close to your eye that you lose sight of the sun. Some baking powders can be bought for a few pennies less than Calumet—but don't hold these cents too close to your eyes—you will not be able to see the quality—the purity—the dependability of

CALUMET BAKING POWDER

In other words, don't be deceived by a few pennies—the cheapest baking powder in price is often the most expensive. When you buy Calumet you know that it will produce pure, sweet, and wholesome bakings. You know that you use less because it contains more than the ordinary leavening strength. Buy it—try it—be convinced. A pound can of Calumet contains full 16 ounces. Some baking powders come in 12 ounce instead of 16 ounce cans. Be sure you get a pound when you want it.
